KOH PHA-NGAN

Koh Pha-Ngan is located some 100 kilometers off the coast of Surat Thani and is among the 48 islands of the Ang Thong Channel. According to some historical and archaeological studies, it was either the malayan people from Nakhon Si Thammarat or the Moslems from Pattani who were the first dwellers of the island where so many places were named in Malayan.

Back in the early reign of King Rama V, Koh Pha-Ngan was subordinate to Muang Chaiya, with its town hall situated at Ao Wok Tum. The island was in 1897 annexed to Koh Samui which was separated from Nakhon Si Thammarat to be subordinate to Muang Chaiya. Koh Pha-Ngan is now an Amphoe in Surat Thani Province
